

The BABY & ME-Tobacco Free Program™ Referral Guidelines

The BABY & ME-Tobacco Free Program™ (BMTFP) is a tobacco cessation program created to reduce the burden of tobacco use among women during the prenatal and postpartum period.

If you are receiving these instructions, your organization and its staff members have committed to support the program by referring pregnant women who are eligible to enroll.

Screening for Tobacco Use

All patients should be screened for tobacco use by their healthcare provider. Organizations that follow this protocol with empathy and attentiveness are more successful in getting tobacco users to consider a quit attempt. Now that your organization can refer pregnant tobacco users to the BMTFP, follow these next steps known as the 2A's and an R (Ask, Advise, & Refer):

ASK

Your agency should have a system in place to ensure that patients are asked about their tobacco use and that the information is documented.

ADVISE

It is the standard of care for all patients that they should be advised by healthcare professionals that complete cessation has the most health benefits and for pregnant women, that any tobacco and/or nicotine exposure is harmful to the fetus.

In a clear, strong, and personalized manner – urge every pregnant tobacco user to quit:

“I need to let you know that quitting smoking is the most important thing you can do for your health and the health of your baby!
We are committed to helping you quit.”

REFER

Offer the patient the BABY & ME – Tobacco Free Program if they are eligible. If the patient is not willing to be referred, remind them that they will be asked about their tobacco status and interest in the program (if eligible) at future visits.

BABY & ME – Tobacco Free Program Eligibility

It is important to know who is eligible for the BMTFP. Participants must be:

1. Pregnant.
2. Less than or at 36 weeks gestation.
